President Sojourns in Tennessee

Drafting Speech
For Development Of Waterways By Regional Authority

TIPTON VILLE, Tenn., Oct. 8—(AP)—President Truman arrived at Marsh lodge on the edge of Reelfoot lake here at 11:38 a. m. (CST) today to spend two days resting and fishing before proceeding to Gilbertsville, Ky., to dedicate the Kentucky dam Wednesday.

The president drove here from Caruthersville, Mo., 25 miles across the Mississippi river lowlands. He crossed the river on an eight-car ferry at Caruthersville and stopped at both Ridgely and Wynburg, Tenn., to greet school children who had assembled on the roadside to wave at him.

The president left his car and shook hands with several persons.

By Ernest B. Vaccaro
CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 8—(AP)—President Truman began drafting today a speech championing multiple purpose development of waterways by regional authorities as he brought another Missouri visit to a close.

His luggage was packed for a two-day sojourn in Tennessee where the Tennessee Valley Authority, the New Deal's vast public power development celebrates the completion of its original ten-dam chain Wednesday.

The president plans to go to Gilbertsville, Ky., Wednesday for a speech at 12 noon (EST) dedicating Kentucky dam, the last of the major TVA flood control-navigation-power dams harnessing the Tennessee river. Former President Roosevelt advocated seven other TVA's.

In the meantime, however, the president planned to spend much of his time today and tomorrow relaxing on historic Reelfoot lake, west Tennessee's paradise for fishermen.

Asks Cooperation
He brought his southeast Missouri visit to a close yesterday afternoon at the Pemiscot country fair with a speech in which he asked the cooperation of all the American people in bringing crisis on the home production front and in the field of foreign affairs to a speedy solution.

To this task, he dedicated all the authority of his high office. Telling his Missouri home folk that these two problems head the list of grave tasks, he said that in 30 years of public office he had not shirked a responsibility, and added: "I shall not shirk this one."

Pleading for co-operation of the American public, as well as Congress, he declared that the road to peace may prove more difficult than that to victory in war.

At home, he said, that requires the co-operation of "management and labor, the farmers, every storekeeper and every man who has an interest in the government of the United States."

Pledges U. S. Leadership
He pledged the United States to leadership in the defense of the "golden rule," which he set as the cornerstone of its foreign policy, and warned that unless there is co-operation to outlaw the destructive use of atomic energy, another world war will bring an end to the civilization America desires.

Relaxed and smiling after an extremely heavy day yesterday, Mr. Truman was up as usual at 6:30 a. m. and took a 20-minute brisk walk along the Mississippi river front before breakfast and an early departure for Reelfoot lake.

The president and Roy Harper, local lawyer and friend, walked to the river front where the president waved a greeting to 30 rivermen who were loading a gravel barge. A long oil barge moved downstream as the president stood on shore.

Truman met 69-year-old M. B. Hitchcock, mail carrier, on his return up town and went for a tour of the post office where he shook hands with Postmaster Bailey F. Brooks and the postal carriers assembling mail for delivery.

He breakfasted at eight.

Adopt Change In CC By-Laws

Next year, and thereafter, seven directors will be elected each year to serve with the seven whose terms hold over. No director may serve two consecutive two year terms.

At the coming election the seven receiving the highest number of votes will serve two years, the remaining seven to serve one year terms.

Hess Returns to Germany

LONDON, Oct. 8—(AP)—The British air ministry announced today that Rudolf Hess had left England in an RAF plane this morning for Frankfurt on the first leg of a journey to Nuernberg, where he will stand trial as a Nazi war criminal.

The erstwhile number two Nazi, who parachuted down on the Scottish moors in May, 1941, was driven from his place of detention to the airfield in a British army car with blinds drawn.

Unshaven and impassive, Hess appeared much thinner than his most recent photographs. He was wearing a gray civilian suit and gray slouch hat.

Hess was accompanied by one army guard, a medical officer and attendant, and an official of the Allied War Crimes Commission.

Formalities at the airfield were quickly completed and only a few RAF personnel saw the plane leave at 8:50 a. m.

Hess' whereabouts had been a closely guarded secret throughout the war. During the past six months, at least, he had been living under guard near the little Welsh village of Abergavenny.

(The Hamburg radio erroneously reported last night that Hitler's former deputy already had arrived in Germany and had been shown a copy of the indictment against him.)

Sudden Floods In California

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Oct. 8—(AP)—Three persons were drowned and one is missing as the result of sudden floods which struck in the Tenacapi mountain area near here Saturday and yesterday.

The bodies of sheriff's deputy Howard K. Knott 58, Bakersfield, and William Frank Thompson, 28, Fresno, Calif., were found by searchers yesterday. Thompson's brother Jesse James Thompson, 30, Oakland, Calif., is missing.

The Thompson brothers, en route to Neosho, Mo., had stopped at a service station at Keene, 35 miles east of here, when the structure was swept away by an eight-foot wall of water. Their wives escaped.

Knott was in an adjacent store which was partially swept away. Thelma Coffman, 4, of Coats, Kans., was drowned when the automobile of her family was washed from a highway near Mojave. Her body was found later.

Her father, Elmer Coffman, and her mother, Ruth, escaped and saved their two other children. Two sections of the Los Angeles aqueduct, and a half mile of highway in the Little Lake and Mojave sections were washed out yesterday and a dozen automobiles were buried in mud and sand. Witnesses told police a wall of water a half mile wide and six feet deep rolled over U. S. highway No. 6, burying the cars whose owners had been forewarned and had abandoned them.

Japanese May Worship as They Choose

U. S. Plan Merely Takes Religion
From State Control

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Washington's decision to abolish Shinto as a state religion in Japan may prove to be the key to that misguided country's reformation for much of the hold which the militarists had on the people was attributable to the fact that the government spoke through the mouth of sacred Shinto.

Lest there be some who fear this is a blow at freedom of worship, it should be said that it is not. The plan merely dissociates the religion from the very obvious evils of government control, but leaves the individual Japanese the right to worship as he chooses. If he clings to the ancestor and hero worship, which is the basis of Shinto (the way of the gods), then it is his prerogative to do so.

The Shinto-state setup has been a "natural" for the industrial tycoons and militarists, who have worked hand in hand to conquer neighboring states and reduce them to vassalage. Government schemes, which ordinarily might have been objectionable to many of the Japanese public, became acceptable when passed down via the Shinto route.

Regarded as Living God
The efficacy of this dual control was multiplied by the fact that the mikado was head of both state and religion. As a direct descendant of the sun-goddess Amaterasu he is regarded by a godly portion of his subjects as a living god.

Because of this circumstance it strikes me as almost a foregone conclusion that Hirohito must abdicate as emperor when the separation of religion and state becomes effective. Obviously he can't hold both positions, and it looks as though fate has selected the one which he must abandon, for while a god may discard temporal rule it's hard to see how he can divest himself of a divinity which Japanese legend says runs back 2,600 years and more.

"It" Enters In
As a matter of fact there has been considerable speculation among Japanese personages in Tokyo recently about the possibility of Hirohito abdicating the throne and devoting himself exclusively to spiritual leadership. However, something of an "it" enters in here, for there is more than a little demand in Allied capitals that the mikado be tried as a war criminal. How such a trial would affect his status as a "living god," and especially if he were convicted, is one of the imperponderables. One can see that it wouldn't boost his stock any.

If and when Hirohito steps down from his ancient throne, a situation will have been created which might spell the end of imperial rule altogether in Japan. Certainly the autocratic form of government which has existed for WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 8—(AP)—Stanley Hack plastered a hit into left with two out and a man on second in the 12th inning today to drive in a run and give the Chicago Cubs an 8 to 7 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the sixth game of the world series, and knot the set-up at 3 victories each.

The six-foot, paunchy Yamashita was the first of a long list of Japanese war-criminal suspects to be hauled into court for arraignment.

Clicking his spurred bootheels together, he responded a brisk "not guilty" to charges that he permitted brutal atrocities against Americans and Filipinos while he commanded Japanese forces in the Philippines.

A United States military commission of five generals heard his plea, immediately fixed the date of the trial and directed that it be held in the war-scarred former residence of the Philippine high commissioner.

Won One, Lost One
The 59-year-old "Tiger of Malaya" won one round and lost one at the start of his fight for life.

Soft-voiced Chief Council Colonel Harry E. Clarke, of Altoona, Pa., obtained the appointment of Yamashita's former chief of staff and deputy chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Muto and Maj. Gen. Utsonomiya, to the defense council staff—a surprising move in view of the fact that both are being held in New Bilibid prison as war criminal suspects.

Clarke failed in a dramatic move to have the charges against the droopy-jowled general stricken altogether on the grounds they failed to state a single violation of the laws of war on the part of the accused. He won a small concession, however, when the commission's presiding officer, Maj. Gen. R. B. Reynolds of Dundee, Mich., ordered the prosecution to supply the defense with a bill of particulars specifically outlining the crimes of which Yamashita is accused.

Reynolds overrode the contention of the chief prosecutor, Maj. Robert M. Kerr of Portland, Ore., that the proceedings were nothing like those of any ordinary court of law and that no detailed statement of charges was required.

Sedalian's Grandson Piloted Plane In Presidential Party

Second Lieut. Robert V. Zwissler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Zwissler, former Sedalians, now of Los Angeles, Calif., and a grandson of Mrs. P. O'Connell, of Dal-Whi-Mo Court piloted the plane for newspaper men in President Truman's party at the Potsdam conference, and in a recent story "Potsdam Diary" written by Robert G. Nixon, International News Service White House Correspondent, reference was made of young Zwissler as follows:

"Our plane is being flown by First Lieut. Julius H. Dusch, of Tell City, Ind., and Second Lieutenant Robert V. Zwissler, of Los Angeles."

Both he and Dusch are grinning happy youngsters who would rather fly than eat. They are the type that has made the American Air Force the greatest fighting instrument in the air and in all the world.

"Zwissler grins and says: 'Would you like to see what we did to Germany?'"

"Sure, everything we can see."

"Okay, we've plenty of time. We won't have to get into the Russian corridor until we come to Kassel. Meantime where would you like to go?"

"I tell Zwissler."

"Let's take in the whole Rhine and Ruhr, if there's time. And let's fly low for a good look."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Hotels—nationwide—are jammed. It's a jam likely to last through Christmas, at least.

Trying to explain the reason for this, a spokesman for the American hotel association here says:

The crowded situation spreads from New Orleans to Seattle, from New York to Los Angeles.

In many of the New York, Chicago and Washington hotels 60 per cent of the rooms are occupied by service men and women.

Now that the war's over, they have longer leaves, keep rooms longer. So do civilian guests.

They used to average 1 or 2 days to a room. Now it's 3, 4 and 5 days.

New York hotels are so crowded they've practically stopped accepting reservations.

You can write to a New York hotel, and maybe you'll get a reservation. Maybe you won't.

In Chicago the army used to have 1,500 rooms a day set aside for service people.

An Army Pool

The rooms were in an army pool and were made available as needed by service people.

Recently the army asked for—and got—a total of 3,000 rooms daily.

Washington hotels are packed, not only with service men and women but with people here on business or labor errands.

It's so tight that Washington hotels are trying to keep organized groups—like conventions—away.

The Washington hotels are co-operating with one another in trying to find rooms for people needing them.

Last week this writer tried at 15 hotels to get a reservation for a friend. This was the answer: One of the 15 was booked solidly for at least a week.

The rest were booked for longer than that.

And this has added to the room scramble:

Some people, wanting to be sure of a room, wire perhaps five hotels in one city for reservations in each.

Fail to Cancel

When they arrive and get a room, they neglect to cancel any reservation they got at other hotels.

This holds up rooms which other people could be using.

The army has predicted that the number of service men and women moving around the country won't reach a peak until December.

It seems therefore, that hotel rooms will be packed at least until then.

The situation is particularly

Up from the Meadows Rich with Corn

ONCE again the folks who feed the nation are harvesting one of the great crops of our history, and the record-breaking harvest of these war years has been produced by fewer people maintaining top production on more and more acres.

The progress that has been made in agriculture in recent years is almost unbelievable—corn yields of well over 100 bushels an acre, a rarity a few years ago, are now common; the production of ton-litters of hogs in less than 6 months after farrowing is no great problem now; hens that lay more than 200 eggs a year are not hard to find; and there are dairy cows with records of well over 30,000 pounds of milk and 1,000 pounds of butterfat annually.

All of these advances in the production of food have played an important part in the building of America to its present greatness and to victory in the war.

Back in the days of George Washington, one farm family was able to produce enough food for itself and one other family. Today each farm family in America can produce its own food and enough for 19 other families. This tells the story of the American harvest. And it is a story unique in world history.

We at Swift & Company salute our farmer and rancher friends for their great achievements and we are proud to have had a part in the preparation and distribution of the fruits of the harvest to Americans everywhere.

SOFT CORN INTO HARD CASH

Corn that gets "cooked" by frost before it matures is still valuable feed, especially for cattle. Here are several ways to turn soft corn into hard cash, listed in the order of their value to the feeder: (a) Make ear-corn silage. (b) Feed ears with stalks, chopped or shredded. (c) Turn cattle and hogs into standing corn. (d) Leave in field and pick ears as needed rather than risk spoilage in storage.

Three main precautions in feeding soft corn are: (a) Change to soft corn ration gradually. (b) Feed a protein supplement. (c) Feed before freezing weather, if possible.

We'll be glad to tell you where to get detailed information on soft corn feeding. Write Swift & Company, Department 128, Chicago 9, Illinois.

THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

When the war began, Swift & Company adopted the following wartime policy:

"We will co-operate to the fullest extent with the U. S. Government to help win the war. We will do everything possible to safeguard the high quality of our products. Despite wartime difficulties, we will make every effort to distribute available civilian supplies to insure a fair share for all customers everywhere."

Under the present conditions, meat packers know that there is no profit advantage in shipping meat long distances as compared with selling it nearby. OPA regulations set prices, by zones and areas, that meat packers may charge for beef, lamb, veal and pork. The United States is divided into ten zones for beef, lamb and veal and five for pork. Each has its own base price for each kind of meat. Additions to the base price are allowed for transportation and local delivery. These allowances are the very minimum and in many instances do not cover the actual cost of transportation, icing, and shrinkage.

Consequently, meat packers are better off when they sell close to their producing plants. In general, the net money they receive is greater the closer to the plant the sale is made. But despite this, Swift & Company has voluntarily adhered to its wartime policy of fair distribution. Starting in July 1945, all meat packers were required by OPA regulations to distribute their meats to the same areas they did the first three months of 1944.

QUALITY FORAGE PROVIDES CAROTENE

By G. BOHSTEDT
University of Wisconsin

Few feeds are as healthful and profitable for young stock, breeding stock and fattening stock as really leafy green hay and well-preserved silage. Not only are they good feeds in their own right but they enable your animals to make the most of corn, grains, and concentrates in the ration fed.

Carotene, the parent substance from which vitamin A is produced, is one of the important nutrients found in leafy green hay and other forages. It serves an essential life and health purpose in the bodies of animals. When animals are on lush pasture, or when fed leafy green roughage of any sort, they store carotene in the liver and other body tissues.

Even splendid feeds like corn and oil meals are short of carotene. It is also lacking in corn and sorghum fodder, straw, discolored hay and off-grade silage. Unfortunately, all too much hay and silage is of this kind. So, even though your animals get their fill of corn and oil meal, they may develop carotene deficiency symptoms which will retard full growth and development unless sufficient leafy roughages are fed.

Japanese May Worship As They Choose

time immemorial will disappear, for Washington has made it clear that the rule must be drastically modified. The country can have an emperor if it wants one, but it will be a people's government.

Effect Far Reaching

The ultimate effect of all this on the Shinto religion is likely to be great. Separation of religion and government is to be accompanied by intensive education of the masses in western ideas and ideals. Shinto no longer will be taught in the schools, as heretofore required by law.

Shinto is deep in the lives of many Japanese but the chances are that in the long run it will go the way of the Olympian gods. And if that happens, the influence of the change may spread far, for ancestor worship is strong among the Chinese. Who can say but what a mighty stride towards the westernization of the Orient is being made in Tokyo during this reconstruction period?

Suggests Scientists Watch Atomic Bomb

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(P)—Senator Lucas (D-Ill) proposed today that Congress hire scientific experts to keep it abreast of all atomic energy developments.

With the Senate still in a dither about what to do with pending legislation, Lucas suggested that Congress set up a Senate-House committee with power to report out measures.

"We ought to employ the best scientists we can get, outside of the committee so that Congress will know what is going on all of the time," the Illinois senator told a reporter.

Meeker To Meet Dan O'Connor Tuesday

New faces will be seen on the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion wrestling card at the State Guard Armory, Tuesday night, in the opening event, and one new contestant in the semi-windup. Yet, the main event brings together Ken Fenelon of Dubuque, Ia., well known here, and Roy Graham, Dallas, Tex., who has appeared here only once and that was against Fenelon in the match last week, which had the fans standing in the aisles.

After Graham had been awarded the match last week, because he won one fall, and the time limit expired before any other falls could be made, Fenelon challenged him again. Thus the match Tuesday night will be one for the best two out of three falls, no time limit.

Jerry Meeker, Columbus, O., is meeting a newcomer to the local ring, Dan O'Connor, Boston, Mass. This match is more than likely to be one which will also be packed with wrestling action. They go for the best two out of three falls, a forty-five minute time limit.

In the opening event both men are making their debut in Sedalia. They are Cliff Olson, Minneapolis, Minn., and Dick Lever, of Memphis, Tenn. They wrestle for the best one fall with a 30-minute time limit.

Notes On The World Series

By Jerry Liska
CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(P)—The waning world series still has to uncover an individual "goat," but some of the lads of both principals are fighting for a chance to try the dunce cap for size.

The fifth game yesterday, for instance, was marred by goofy gambling which easily might have nominated a series chump if it had been a close contest.

Chances are the Detroit Tigers, if they can repeat their 1935 triumph over the Chicago Cubs either today or Wednesday, will forget all about the strange happenings in their outfield during the series.

Rivaling Roy Cullenbine's misjudgment of Bill Nicholson's two-run triple in last Wednesday's opener was the you-take-it-I-don't-want-it act Cullenbine and Doc Cramer staged yesterday on Phil Cavarretta's fly ball in the ninth inning.

While Cramer and Cullenbine were conducting something of a radar experiment in blind fielding, the apple floated down between them for a double and Cavarretta scored a moment later on Nicholson's single.

That fielding farce, plus a few other shoddy bits of defensive work prompted one sports writer to send this headline to his paper: "Newhouse wins double-header, beats Cubs and Tigers."

Add statistical stuff: When Grimm marched five Cub pitchers against the Tigers yesterday, he came within one of the world series record held by the Tigers (1934) and the Cubs (1938) . . . also, the 17 players who cavorted fruitlessly for the Bruins was one shy of the 18 used by the Giants in a single game against the Yankees in 1936.

Both clubs are keeping their individual player slice of the series swag under their respective hats, but one thing the public does know is that the current players' pool will be one of the top pay-offs. The first four games—the only games the players share in receipts—produced $445,714.50, plus an expected $25,000 or so from the radio rights fee. The 1943 Yankee-Cardinals series produced the all-time players pool record of $488,005.74.

It's probably small comfort to Hank Borowy after his abrupt flight to the showers yesterday, but the ex-Yankee holds an over-all record of 12 wins and only 4 defeats against the Tigers, including his series split.

All Not Harmony With "Hap" Chandler

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(P)—All is not harmony between baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler and the presidents of the National and American leagues and the owners of the 16 major league ball clubs.

Evidence of discord in the ranks stirred through the sixth game of the World Series today, partly growing from a pitch Chandler made for higher pay for arbiters in the fall classic at a pre-series meeting of league presidents and umpires in Detroit last week.

By baseball law, series umpires receive $2,500 each for the set of games, whether the minimum of four or the limit of seven. Chandler, at the meeting, is reported to have proposed that their pay be increased to $4,000 for the series.

American league president Will Harridge allowed that this was one basis for the dissension. National league president Ford C. Frick flatly declined to comment.

Chandler declined any comment on the reports he had proposed a pay increase for series umpires or that any dissension existed between him and the ball club bigwigs. However, a spokesman had said earlier that he had heard Chandler "discuss the matter" and predicted the Kentucky senator would have something to say publicly.

Harridge declined to be drawn into a discussion about a rumor that has been going around to the effect that the leagues would buy up Chandler's contract. To do this would cost in the neighborhood of $350,000.

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(P)—Charley Caldwell, who has the task of making Princeton football "formal"—i.e., financially solvent—again points out one drawback that some schools apparently overlooked when they let football lapse during the war. "During the informal seasons," says Charley, "a lot of boys who had intended to go to Princeton decided to go elsewhere." . . . Maybe that's one reason why Bill Bingham decided to put Harvard football back on a formal basis and to book a game with Yale this year. . . . Some colleges can make a quick comeback by "going out and getting 'em" but in the staid Big Three recruiting has to remain informal no matter what they

First Game of City Series To Merchants

Jr. Legion Shutout By Merchants 2-0 In a Great Game

The Sedalia Merchants won the first game of the series for the city championship by defeating the American Legion club 2 to 0 in a great game Sunday afternoon played on the Liberty park diamond.

The game was replete with fielding gems by both clubs who supported their pitchers in great style and gave the large crowd one of the most thrilling games of the year.

The Merchants were off to a lead in the first inning when Light led off with a two base hit and scored when Livengood pumped a single into right field. From then on until the seventh Cooney had the Merchants completely fooled with a nifty slow curve. May took over the mound duties in the seventh and was promptly touched for a run when John Thomas started the seventh with a walk.

Norman and Nichols were easy outs but Light cracked his second double off the left field wall scoring Thomas.

Lefty Hal Green started for the Merchants and pitched fine ball until the fifth when he ran into trouble after two were out. Light dropped Cooney's line drive and Green lost control walking Walker and Rodgers to load the bases.

Manager Palmer Nichols removed Green in favor of Lefty Gus Shirley, veteran relief hurler for the Merchants, who after throwing two straight balls struck out Livengood to end the only serious threat the Legion team made after the first inning.

In the first inning Tuggle led off with a two bagger but was thrown out at the place by Ellsworth on a fine play.

The Legion and Merchants teams have played some excellent ball this season and the game Sunday demonstrated that both clubs deserve the fine support they received by the fans in Sunday's game.

Next Sunday the same two teams will meet in the second game of the series, the game to be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Gen. Abner Doubleday, who "invented" baseball, did nothing to advance the game while he was a West Point cadet. Similarly, George S. Willits played for Rutgers in the first intercollegiate football game while preparing for the naval academy, but when he

Bob Carley has earned a place as end on the Minnesota football team although he can't hear the quarterback's signals. An expert lip-reader, he bends over where he can see 'em in the huddles and usually is the first man to line up.
